ATTACKED BY SWORDFISH.

One of Crew of Sch. Blanche Irving Has Narrow Escape.

William Hobbs, one of the crew of sch. Blanche Irving, which arrived at Boston today had a narrow escape from serious if not fatal injury by a swordfish. The crew were out in the dories chasing the fish, when an infuriated monster swordfish that had been struck by a harpoon, turned upon the dory in which Hobbs was at work and drove his sword through the bottom. The sharp and powerful bone came within a few inches of penetrating abdomen of Hobbs. The sword, which was about three feet long, was broken off before the infuriatdd denizen of the deep was liberated.

PAID UNDER PROTEST.

Capt. Johnstone Assessed Duty on His Fletched Halibut.

Claim Consignment the Product of American Fisheries.

Capt. Charles Johnstone went to the custom house yesterday afternoon and entered the three cars of Pacific fletched halibut which came here from Vancouver, B. C, consigned to him. The consignment came under the head of salted and b ned fish, and a duty of 1 1-4 cents per pound was imposed. This was paid under protest, Capt. Johnstone claiming that the fish are the product of the American fisheries, having been caught by an American vessel and shipped from a Canadian port in band.

The amount of the duty was $1532.50.

Collector Jordan, when seen by a TIMES representative, said that the duty was levied on the goods, as they were the property of a foreign corporation.

GOOD HAUL.

Sch. Georgie Willard Struck Mackerel Off Portland.

Arrived at That Port with 200 Barrels Last Night.

A special to the TIMES reports the arrival at Portland last night of sch. Georgie Willard, Capt. G. Melvin McClain, with 200 barrels of fresh mackerel.

Sch. Victor shipped 50 barrels of large and medium mackerel from Rockland yesterday.

HAVE LEFT GEORGES.

No Schools of Mackerel Showing There at Present.

Sch. Constellation Cruises All Over the Bank.

Sch. Constellation, Capt. Thaddeus Morgan arrived from a mackerel trip to Georges, yesterday afternoon. Capt. Morgan reports having fine weather on Georges and a good chance to look for fish but not a school of mackerel were seen. Capt. Morgan says the fish have entirely disappeared and where they have gone is a mystery.

The incoming seiners have only a few barrels of fish and have scoured the coast from Georges to 25 miles east of Grand Manan. At the latter spot a few small pods show now and then, but all in all the mackerel prospect at the present time is beyond question the poorest for years. As one skipper said this morning, "It looks as though the jig was up."
