REPRESENTATIVE McINTIRE'S RESOLUTION.

The resolution of Representative McIntire in favor of legislation protecting the food fish of the New England coast from the depredations of dogfish is a most timely document and one which will meet with the hearty support of every man who hauls a trawl, as well as vessel owners, skippers and fish dealers from New York to Newfoundland.

The representative's resolution calls for the commonwealth of Massachusetts to favor such legislation as mentioned above and will undoubtedly be adopted when it comes before the senate and house.

At that time it is expected that Representative McIntire will address the house in support of his resolution and show his fellow members in his own plain, straightforward way how not only the shore fisheries but the fishermen have suffered by the depredations of dogfish and give them facts and figures to prove it.

Previous to his election, he made it one of his strong points that if elected he should labor that something might be done toward the extinction of this pest of the seas and destroyer of food fishes.

Backed up by his thorough knowledge of the situation, for the representative has been a gsherman and vessel owner as well as a careful student of the situation, he is as well able, and perhaps more so than any other to bring this matter to the knowledge of the state authorities and champion the cause in the legislative halls.

The matter promises to be one of national im ortance and will be heard soon at Washington therefore it is hoped that Massachusetts, the greatest fishing state in the whole union, should array itself on the right side and emphatically endorse the resolution introduced by the representative from the largest fishing port in the country.
