FLITCHERS SPOKEN.

Sch. Massachusetts Had a Hard Time in Bacalieu Ice.

Forced to Come To the Southward To Continue Her Fishing.

Capt. John McKay of sch. Monitor, which arrived from Bacalieu Bank yesterday afternoon, brought news of two of the flitched halibut trip and of one of them being nipped in the ice but fortunately getting clear.

Capt. McKay spoke his brother Capt. Fred McKay of sch. Gladiator, and the latter reported seeing sch. Henry M. Stanley and also sch. Massachusetts, both flitchers. The Massachusetts was then fishing to the southward of 49 and Capt. Carroll reported that they had been well to the northward and got caught in the ice.

He said that his craft was used hard and some of the treenails were started, but finally the craft got free, Capt. Carroll considered it wise to come to the southward to continue fishing.

MODUS VIVENDI.

Satisfactory Fishery Agreement Reached for Coming Season.

Fishery Dispute To Be Considered by Hague Tribunal.

A despatch from London says that the foreign office, in announcing the conclusion of a modus vivendi regarding the Newfoundland fisheries says:

"His Majesty's government and the government of the United States unite in regarding the exchange of notes recording this proposal and its acceptance as constituting in itself a satisfactory agreement for the season of 1908, without the necessity of a more formal agreement."

The conclusion of a modus vivendi between Great Britain and the United States governing the Newfoundland fisheries and the rights of American fishermen means that friction in Newfoundland waters will be avoided until a settlement of the entire question, which is long standing, is had before The Hague tribunal.
