Dressing Fish by Machinery.

The difficult problem of dressing fish by machinery, to save the enormous amount of hand labor necessary at canneries, seems to have been solved at last by the invention of a Pennsylvania man, who has devised a machine which scrapes off the scales, cleans the fish and trims off the heads, tails and fins.

An illustrated article in the November Popular Mechanics shows the fish as they are passing through the machine, and again carefully dressed and ready for canning, as they drop from it at the rate of 200 to 300 a minute, according to size.

MONSTER CODFISH.

Four Feet Long and Weighed 57 Pounds All Cured.

The workmen and bosses in the Cunningham & Thompson fish skinning loft are al telling about the big fish which came unde their notice yesterday. It was a salt banl cod and a buster, far larger than any mar working there had ever seen before. Mr Charles Graham, who has charge of the de partment, and who has been there over 2 years, says it is the largest fish he ever saw

It was four feet and one inch long, 2 inches across, and when fully cured and th napes all cleaned it weighed just 57 pounds Mr. Graham says that 20 years or so ago, h saw a cod which weighed 42 pounds cure and that was considered a monster. Thi one beats in 15 pounds.
