Portland News

Groundfish was landed at Portland Friday afternoon by the gill-netters Pofisco, 13,000 pounds, and the Onward III, 10,000 pounds. Capt. Ford Davis also had 6000 pounds of mackerel.

Nicely repaired and repainted and nearly ready to start her career as a dragger, the fishing schooner Alice M. Doughty II, which ran on Watt Ledge in the fog two months ago, returned to Portland Friday morning from the Snow yard at Rockland. Capt. Reuben Doughty said he expects to be ready to start dragging about the middle of next week.

The schooner Fannie Belle, also converted to a dragger, is tied up at Custom House Wharf waiting for some specially designed blocks before she leaves port on her first trip. Capt. Royston "Boog" Leeman has taken aboard stores, ice, and salt and is all ready to go.
