Schs. Lizzie M. Stanley and Gloriana are fitting for market fishing.

Mackerel Notes.

There were five Gloucester fishermen at anchor in the harbor, early Sunday morning. They had come here after an arduous chase for the elusive mackerel down the coast. All will have disappeared this morning. They say that the mackerel are not to be found on the Georges and have struck in off the coast. Capt. Sol Jacobs will start today after the mackerel schools supposed to be holding a neptune convention off Seal Island. The speckled sea beauties are worth about 12 cents apiece for the fishermen and they are endeavoring to make a seining while the fish can be seen. The presence of five crack Gloucester fishermen in this port at once is indicative of the race they run for the fish.—Rockland, Me., Star.

Schs. Norumbega and Golden Hope were at Portland on Saturday, the latter having 25 barrels of fresh mackerel.

Sch. Hattie M. Graham was at Boothbay yesterday.
