ALEWIVES HAVE COME.

Have Been Running at Edgartown for Two Weeks.

Run Is Yet Very Small, Not Enough for Bait.

A special to the TIMES from its Edgartown correspondent states that alewives have begun to run and that a few have been taken nearly every night for the past two weeks. The fish are not at all plentiful as yet, as the largest haul, which was made on Saturday night numbered only 180 fish. This is exceptionally early for alewives, and it is believed that they have not started to run so early for many years.
