GREATEST ON RECORD.

Was Herring Season Just Ended at Bay of Islands.

Seventy Five Thousand Barrels Represents the Catch.

The Bay of Islands, N. F., Wstern Star of February 5 has the following interesting article on the winter herring fishery:

"The American and Canadian vessels cleared from Birchy Cove number 66; other vessels cleared from Lark Harbor and one or two left without customs clearance. There were 47 American and 19 Canadian vessels secured full cargoes made up in the aggregate as follows: Bulk herring, 43,740 bbls.; pickled herring, 15,397 bbls.; frozen herring, 15,860 bbls.; total, 74,997 bbls.

"The total value of the herring taken by these vessels is $110,021.25. The average price paid for the bulk herring was $1 25 per barrel; the frozen fish brought as high as $3 per barrel. Besides the above about 10,000 barrels were taken to market by the Harlaw and by other craft and by West Coast business men for bait purposes, which would represent in value $12,500. This would make a grand total of 84,997 barrels for the season's catch, valued at $122,521.25.

"The total catch last fall and winter (1900-01) amounted to 47,802 barrels, valued at $73,933.25, and that season beat all previous records. The season just ended, however, shows an unprecedented increase, there being 37,195 barrels more fish taken than last year; the money receipts being $48,588 more than last year. All the herring caught were not sold at $1 25 per barrel—the minimum exacted by law. Towards the end of the season, when the captains were anxious to reach market, herring sold for $2.50 per barrel and sometimes $3.

"Some extraordinary sales were made by Bay of Islands fishermen. It is said that one crew of four men, for four days' work, cleared $312, or $20 a day per man. In another case four brothers—Messrs. Perret—made $149 in one day; quite a few of our men cleared $30 a day in the last week's fishing. Mr. Richard Furlong, of Benoit's Cove, Mr. John Barry, of Summerside, and Capt. J. B. Petipas are said to have cleared over $1000 each for the season's work. Not alone does Bay of Islands benefit by this great fishery. Channel, Codroy, St. George's, Robinson's Head and Stephenville fishermen were employed and netted hundreds of dollars for less than two months' work.

"Some of the men from other parts of the island who did well with the herring fishery here this winter will erect temporary cabins in North and Middle Arms next fall and will engage in the fishery as long as the herring are available."

BIG SHARES.

Small Boat Crews Get Benefit of High Prices.

On account of the very high prices for fresh fish at Boston yesterday, the crews of the boats there made fine shares Sloop Venus, Capt. John T. Dench, had 15,000 pounds of cod and the crew shared $78 and sch. M. Madeleine, Capt. Roland Brewer, had 26,000 pounds of cod and the crew made the big share of $106.
