Newfoundland Seal Fishery.

The sealing steamer Harlaw arrived at St. John's on Wednesday night with 12,000 seals on board. A furious north-east gale has been raging for the last 36 hours and it is feared that it will cause disaster among the sealing fleet in the ice floes.

The latest reports indicate that the heavy wind has scattered the floes and it is not likely that the vessels will be able to secure large catches of seals. The steamer Algerine, having on board 1000 seals, was forced to shelter at Little Sand.
