LUCKY THIRTEEN DAYS.

In Them Sch. Mary E. Harty Gets Stock of $7604.

Crew Shared $188 44 Each for Their Labors.

One of the best stocks of the season, considering the length of time employed, was made by sch. Mary E. Harty, Capt. Charles H. Harty, which was at Boston yesterday and landed 7500 fresh mackerel and later came to this port with 240 barrels of salt mackerel.

A few days ago, Capt. Harty made Boston with a big fare of fresh mackerel. He came right down here and took out what few salt mackerel he had on board and then went right out without waiting to settle up.

That trip and the one completed yesterday were made in just 13 days, and on them the vessel made the splendid stock of $7604, the crew sharing $188.44.

This gives Capt. Harty a stock of nearly $22,000 thus far this season and puts him right up where he belongs, in the very front rank.

Sch. Marguerite Haskins, Capt. Benjamin Spurling, arrived at Boston this noon with 200 barrels salt mackerel and 100 barrels of fresh mackerel.

Sept. 1st.

Horse Mackerel Plenty.

Horse mackerel are plenty at Provincetown, the biggest school of the season having struck in yesterday.

Capt. "Jim" Lewis came in first, bringing 14 of the creatures from his weirs. His lot was made up of adult specimens, the largest of the bunch tipping the scales at 550 pounds after removal of head, tail and viscera.

Next came Capt. Manuel D. James, bringing one only, a 400-pounder. The Conwell Bros.' trap yielded seven small-sized horse mackerel, while Capt. David Blatchford brought in nine.

Capt. Fred Lewis of the steam weir boat George Leslie, however, found an abundance of the huge creatures within each of his two traps, he taking 24 from the first one visited and 30 from the other.

In all 85 horse mackerel were landed by five crews.

What the Fishermen Endure.

The little fishing sch. Madonna, from the halibut grounds of the north, came into port Sunday afternoon pretty well laden with a catch and bearing David Walch of Yarmouth, N. S., who had broken his leg in a heavy cable while on the banks.

In the forcastle of the little malodorous craft with no medical attendance worth speaking of, and the broken leg growing worse from day to day, the plucky little sailorman lay uncomplainingly, wating for the welcome cry of "port." The cry came yesterday afternoon, and the rest of the men did not forget what torments their mate had suffered in the long trip to Boston, carried him tenderly to the ambulance waiting on the wharf, which took him in turn to the Haymarket relief station.—Boston Advertiser.

Herring Strike the Maine Coast.

Sch. M. J. Sewell, Capt. Look, arrived at Portland Saturday with 150 barrels of herring which were sold to W. H. Shurtleff & Co., Union wharf. The herring were taken in the vicinity of Jonesport and are the first of the season to arrive at that port. It is a little early in the season to predict the prospects for the catch of herring but it is now thought that there will be a good number of the fish taken. The lot were fine looking specimens of fish.

LAST YEAR MAY BE BEAT.

Salt Mackerel Receipts Now Up to Last Season.

BIG BRACE MADE LATELY.

Fine Fares from Maine Coast Save the Day.

The catch of salt mackerel thus far for the season of 1903 is about 32,500 barrels. Last year at this time it was practically the same amount, or near enough so that one could say in a general way that the catch this year thus far was up to that of last season at this time.

Last year at this time, receipts were somewhat light, 160 barrels being the best trip, and sales were at $18.50 per barrel for salt tinker mackerel and $16.50 for large rimmed fish.

Last year's total catch was 41,279 barrels.

DANDY STOCK.

Sch. Navahoe Gets $4100 on Her Recent Seining Trip.

Sch. Navahoe, Capt. Martin Welch, stocked $4100 on her recent seining trip, the crew sharing $97.50. On the previous trip, the crew shared $112.50, and both fares have been landed in quick time.

Capt. Welch is one of those quiet, unassuming fellows of the Capt. Elroy Prior stamp, who goes quietly along year after year, always rolling up a fine year's work. Equally well known as a seiner and haddocker of the first water, he is one of those all-round skippers who are born fishermen, active and energetic and possessed of that most essential quality, good judgment.

GAVE UP THE TRIP.

Sch. Procyon Brought In a Lone Ocean Voyager.

William Snyder of Boston, who left here recently to cross the Atlantic in a dory, was brought in here last week by sch. Procyon, having been picked up on Georges, willing to give up his undertaking.
