Resolved, That the Gloucester Board of Trade heartily endorses the Lodge bill for the perfecting of the consular service of the United States, contemplating the reorganization of the service on the basis of merit and personal equipment for the office. Giving assurance, as it does, to men of ability, energy and tact, of a permanent career, such a bill will encourage young men of education and character to make special preparation and training for the service and bring to the commercial interests of this country those advantages which they ask for, while strengthening abroad our ability and dignity as a nation:

Resolved, That we request our representatives in Congress to assist in securing the passage of the bill.

DESTROYING DERELICTS.

The following resolution offered by Capt. Sylvanus Smith, was adopted:

Whereas, there are so many derelicts which are a constant menace to navigation especially in the North Atlant c ocean, the removal or destruction of which seems unlikely to be accomplished by any private enterprise, while the necessity of their removal, both because of danger to life and property loss, is urgent, we would therefore request that the senators and representatives from this state use their best efforts to secure favorable action on Chief Hydrographer W. H. Southerland's recommendation of the navy department, that a vessel be especially set apart for the purpose of patrolling the coast waters and destroying all derelicts.

After the regular business had been completed, the members of the board made several suggestions for the interest of the city and good of the board and a general discussion of the same entered into by many present.

Pledges and plans to secure new members were made and a membership boom healthily launched. The matter of issuing an annual printed book to be a report of the fisheries and other industries was seriously considered.

The board adjourned at 11.10 o'clock.

CAPTAIN JACOBS HOME.

Brings Photographs of Wreck of His Craft.

Succeeded in Saving Engines and Some Outfits.

Capt. Solomon Jacobs, of the wrecked steamer Alice M. Jacobs arrived home last night from Port au Basque, N. F.

Capt. Jacobs has staid by the craft since the disaster and succeeded in saving most of the engines and machinery, also the cable, chain, anchors and much of the other outfits.

On account of lack of help, it being hard to get men there, and the hard and exposed position of the wreck, the work of saving the articles was carried on with great difficulty, but Capt. Jacobs stuck to it and by working every day when there was a possible chance, succeeded in reclaiming much of value.

Capt. Jacobs brought home with him a series of photographs which tell plainer than words the condition of the wreck and her exposed position.

Mr. William J. Hudder remained at Port aux Basques in charge of the articles saved from the wreck.

Herring Notes'

A St. John's, N. F., dispatch says that the storms of the past few days at Fortune and Placentia Bays have resulted in many nets and much gear being destroyed and large numbers of herring escaped, which would greatly delay the vessels there to load.
