WITH PICKLED CODFISH.

British Steamer Baines Hawkins Arrived This Morning.

First Foreign Steamer To Bring Imported Cod Fare Here.

The British steamer Baines Hawkins arrived here this morning from Neil's Cove, C. B., with 400,000 pounds of pickled codfish consigned to Davis Bros.

So far as known this is the first consignment of pickled cod fish ever brought to this port from the Provinces in a steamer, and is the largest consignment of imported codfish ever received here.

The steamer had a close shave in getting clear of the ice on the start, and but for quick work would probably have been caught. On the way she touched at North Sydney, C. B., but her stay there was of the briefest possible space of time, as her captain felt that the ice was coming and to stay there perhaps an hour too long meant to be caught, with little show of getting out.

The fare is to be divided between Davis Bros., to whom it was consigned, John Pew & Son and Slade Gorton & Co.

Capt. Peters of the steamer says that he did not leave North Sydney any too soon, and Capt. Alex McEachern, who represented Davis Bros. in securing the fare, and remained behind at North Sydney and came home by train, says that had the steamer been 12 hours later she would not have been able to have got away. He says that in all his experience he never saw so much ice about Cape Breton as there was there when he left.

Capt. Peters reports a good passage with no accidents or mishaps.

HERRING DEMAND LIGHT.

Wholesale Trade in Boston Not As Good As Expected.

The wholesale trade in herring at Boston has not been as good this year as was expected, and two of the large schooners that came to T. wharf two weeks ago with cargoes of large food herring lie there still unloaded. Before the herring began to come there was a big demand for it on the part of the dealers, and when the first vessels arrived here the men could not unload the fish and fill the barrels quick enough to satisfy the demand.

Suddenly there was a let-up in the demand, and the unloading of the schooners slowed up. The fish still sell, but the demand for them is not as great as the owners expected. This is in part due to the coming in of the large quantities of haddock in the past week and a half, and perhaps more to the fact that the New York and Philadelphia markets have been cut off from the wholesalers and commission men here.
