LITTLE OR NO ICE.

Fishing Craft Will Probably Bait Early at Magdalenes.

Weather wise people on the Cape Breton coast declare that there will be little or no drift ice this spring and that consequently an early opening of navigation may be expected, if indeed navigation can be said to have cloed in Sydney harbor this winter.

At present there is very little drift ice and what there is is of a very light and loose character, offering little or no impediment to shipping.

This means that the bankers and shackers will be able to get to the Magdalenes early this spring, for bait.

FEW AND FAR BETWEEN.

Off Shore Arrivals Unusually Scarce at This Port.

Three Crafts from Portland Are All for a Week.

The scarcity of off shore arrivals at this port the present week is almost unprecedented even for this time of the year when not too much is looked for.

Not since a week ago today has there been an arrival here from directly off shore and indeed only three vessels have arrived with fish, they being Georges handliners which took out their halibut at Portland and then came here to fit out again and land their salt cod. Of these, schs. W. H. Rider and Pauline came last Saturday and sch. Arthur D. Story put in yesterday.

The lack of arrivals makes it very dull on the water front, the only signs of hustle being alongside the salt steamer, where schs. Athlete and J. J. Flaherty are taking salt and around some wharves where riggers and longshoremen are at work around some of the salt bankers and vessels that will be in the early seining fleet.
