T Wharf Dealers Want Mackerel.

Just now the dealers at T wharf, Boston, are begging for fresh mackerel, and there are none to be had. None were landed there yesterday or today, and the market is bare, while there is a demand for mackerel from retailers that cannot be met. Weakfish and butterfish are also scarce, and even in the freezers where in former years there were boxes and barrels of weakfish none are to be had. Frozen butterfish are not yet on the market, and the catch of green fish is light.
