LIGHT RECEIPTS AGAIN TODAY

ARRIVALS FEW IN PORT SINCE
YESTERDAY'S LANDINGS OF FISH.

Today was another light fish day in port, receipts being confined to a seiner and a haddock from Boston. The seiner Liboria C., brought 10,000 pounds of mackerel which were shipped, and the haddock Laura Goulart down from Boston with 60,000 pounds of haddock and cod, unloaded at the Pew wharf. Boat Leretha, Capt. John Morash, came in yesterday afternoon with 77,000 pounds of fresh mackerel and 30 barrels of salt, dividing her fresh fish among several dealers. Up to noon, her salt mackerel had not been sold. Three gill netters hauling yesterday, brought in 4500 pounds of fish.

BULLDOG IN DIRECTORY.

About half-way down page 1383 of the Chicago telephone directory one finds the name Pussiewillow and the telephone number Ardmore 3072. Should you call the number, don't be surprised to be answered by a low growl. For, Pussiewillow, you know is a bulldog. A few lines lower and in the column to the left is the name of Mrs. Bertha Stotts Thornton, the dog's owner. Mrs. Thornton is a lover of animals. Some years ago she had a cat, called Gutt, whose name also appeared in the telephone book. The cat had a checking account at the First National Bank and paid $3.50 a week for board. Mrs. Thornton wrote stories about the cat and put the money in the bank under the cat's name. When the cat disappeared she purchased Pussiewillow. Mrs. Thornton's theory is that animals are as human as people and therefore have a right to be listed in the telephone directory.

LARGEST TURTLE CAUGHT.

Struggling for more than two hours, Edward Dostal and Gordon Grimes, both of Ludlow, succeeded in capturing what is believed to be the largest turtle ever caught in that vicinity. It measured 47 inches from tip to tip and weighed a fraction over 55 pounds. According to the two men the turtle was so strong that several times during the process of bringing it to shore it nearly capsized their large rowboat.

N. S. Dried Fish Markets.

The world-wide depression in the dried fish trade has at the moment rather serious aspects to the producers and shippers of this country, the chief one of which is what looks like the possibility that the fishermen may have difficulty in getting a living price for their product. The total catch of Europe is greater than last year and European fish is being sold in many markets at a price below the cost of production in this country. Reports from Newfoundland of the catch there would indicate that up to the present, production has been less than in the corresponding period last year. The same seems to be true of the results of the Lunenburg bank fishery. These shortages, however, do not offset European over-supplies.

As in the case of practically all other trades dealing with food products, it is only a question of time until things will right themselves, but for the time being the outlook is anything but promising in the remainder of 1930 for those engaged in the dried fish business. While the short catch in Canada and Newfoundland is plentiful. The chances are that those engaged in the dried fish industry are in no worse a position than those engaged in many other occupations. Apparently the only thing to do is to carry on hoping for a turn for the better, which will come after the world depression has reached the pit. It is always difficult to say where an economic cycle will reach that point, but it must come eventually and conditions cannot remain bad indefinitely. The only thing that can be affirmed is that the turn cannot be said to be definitely in sight as yet.—Maritime Merchant.
