Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isobars in black exhibit atmospheric pressure at sea-level, and are charted from data as reported by the several observers.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isobars in black exhibit atmospheric pressure at sea-level, and are charted from data as reported by the several observers.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isobars in black exhibit atmospheric pressure at sea-level, and are charted from data as reported by the several observers.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isobars in black exhibit atmospheric pressure at sea-level, and are charted from data as reported by the several observers.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isobars in black exhibit atmospheric pressure at sea-level, and are charted from data as reported by the several observers.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrowe, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isobars in black exhibit atmospheric pressure at sea-level, and are charted from data as reported by the several observers.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isobars in black exhibit atmospheric pressure at sea-level, and are charted from data as reported by the several observers.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Date, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isobars in black exhibit atmospheric pressure at sea-level, and are charted from data as reported by the several observers.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isobars in black exhibit atmospheric pressure at sea-level, and are charted from data as reported by the several observers.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.

Data, as appearing in the International Bulletin of similar date.

Isotherms in red exhibit temperature of air, similarly charted.

Broken or dotted lines indicate that the lines so broken are doubtful.

Arrows, when charted, fly with the wind and exhibit wind-direction and force.
